DEAR FRIENDS,

On April 7, the NDP-Liberal government in Ottawa unleashed the federal budget on the Canadian public – one day before the House of Commons rose for a 16-day break. Coincidence, you ask? Of course not! The Singh-Trudeau coalition government timed the budget to avoid Parliamentary accountability and facing tough questions in the House of Commons about the out-of-control spending and hyper-inflationary measures being forced upon the Canadian public.

This was the first federal budget under the new NDP-Liberal “Supply and Confidence” agreement which guarantees NDP coalition support to the Liberal government until 2025 regardless of whatever scandal Trudeau gets into or how the Liberals go on to further wreck our economy. As a quid pro quo, the Liberals broke Canadian law around cabinet secrecy and briefed NDP leader Jagmeet Singh on the Budget days before it was delivered in Parliament. Leaks around previous federal budgets on much smaller scales have resulted in RCMP investigations and charges, and yet there are no consequences for this clear flouting of the law.

Even with the NDP-Liberal government doing everything they can to avoid accountability on this budget, as your Conservative Member of Parliament for Saskatoon West I have very strong feelings about the negative consequences this budget brings to our province of Saskatchewan. I encourage you to read those comments on the back of this mailer, or watch any of my videos on Facebook, YouTube or TikTok by scanning the QR Code on this pamphlet and following the links from my website.

I invite you to respond to my survey card attached – no postage required! I read each response personally and value the feedback that constituents share with me. Brad Redekopp Condemns NDP-Liberal Federal Budget

The NDP-Liberal Budget has confirmed the worst fears of many Canadians: the federal government is committed to a path of uncontrollable, hyper-inflationary policies that will kill economic activity and destroy Canadians' purchasing power. Conservatives were looking for three things: controlled spending to control inflation; tax breaks for Canadians; and substantial action on increasing housing supply. The budget failed Canadians on all of these.

The most disturbing aspect of the budget is that Canadians are worse off today than they were six years ago. Seniors living on fixed incomes, struggling to afford the high costs they see everywhere, have been let down. Families struggling to pay their bills have been let down. Young families trying to buy a house have been let down. Not one house will be built or bought this year under these NDP-Liberal programs. The more Liberals spend, the more expensive everything gets.

The NDP-Liberal government has doubled down on their uncontrolled spending and higher taxes.

Instead of tax breaks for Canadians, Trudeau is using inflation revenue to grow government.

Conservatives will restore Canada to balanced budgets, reign in inflation, and unleash the economic potential of our resources sector. We will put Canadians back in charge of their money.

Conservatives will consistently be the voice of the millions of Canadians who are left behind by this NDP-Liberal government.
